

While I understand that a business needs to be able to communicate with customers and potential future customers, the telephone solicitors have just gotten out of hand. even though we are on a no call list and supposedly we are protected from unwanted telephone calls, these companies seem to be finding a way around the indiana law. the CONSUMER BANKERS ASSOCIATION is trying to weakenn INDIANA'S TELEPHONE PRIVACY LAW even more. currently I have gotten to the place that for my home number I have everything set to automatically go to a answering machine because the calls from this type of company have gotten out of hand. the telephone privacy low does not need to be weakened, it needs to be strenthened to stop all these unwanted calls to individuals.

John Stroup